

Building Construction To Begin University Of Washington Offers JC Scholarships

Pasco school board a week ago agreed to construct the first units, three vocational buildings that will cost an estimated $600,000, after it was decided to build the vocational-technical structures before the academic buildings. College director Jack Cooney said that it is hoped that the buildings will be ready for use by 1957.

Board Questions Proposal
The board hesitated at the idea of building the vocational and first. As explained by the administrators, the transfer of the vocational courses will clear the college out of the shattered buildings at the Navy base except for the main academic building. Mr. Cooney stated that the present academic structure is a very workable unit from the standpoint of the administrative work and could handle three times as many students as possible.

The board's final decision was based on the fact that, for the money available, the district couldn't move enough of the academic program to escape the problem of shuttling between the two areas. Herman Jaeger, school superintendent, said that the scheduling difficulties between old and new units would be almost insurmountable. Mr. Jaeger also went on to say that if the vocational buildings aren't constructed in the beginning, the shops will be in their present buildings ten years from now. The academic will take hold so rapidly, he said, the college will have a hard time keeping up on academic construction. The college is expected to have a 1,000 enrollment in the very near future.

The University of Washington recently announced that students who plan to attend the University next fall will be able to obtain scholarships. A limited number of scholarships will be offered to outstanding students entering from the Washington junior colleges.

Any students planning to enter the University in the fall quarter of 1956 is eligible to apply for the scholarship, provided he has spent one full academic year in a junior college. Applicants must have a junior college collective grade point average of 3.5, however financial need of the applicant and the student's participation in school and community activities will be considered.

Applicants from all the junior colleges will be considered as a group, and the actual awards will be decided by a faculty committee this spring.

COLUMBIA BASIN COLLEGE, PASCO, WASHINGTON

FEBRUARY 24, 1956

JC Accepted Into Assn.

Pasco's Columbia Basin College has been accepted for active membership in the American Association of Junior Colleges, Washington D.C., school board representative Marvin Nelson reported last week.

The announcement was made in a letter from Jesse P. Bogue, association executive secretary, to Jack Cooney, college director.

The announcement means the new college is as fully accredited as possible at this time. Before the institution receives full accreditation, members from one of its classes must complete a full year in a senior institution.

Annual Pictures Set For Today

The annual staff has announced that both group pictures and individual photos of the college student body will be taken today. Mr. K. Dobson, well-known Kennewick photographer, will take the pictures for the annual. Neconia editor Marilyn Head has released the below times for pictures.

Peerleaders	8:30 to 8:45
German Club	8:45 to 9:00
Pop Band	9:00 to 9:15
A.S.B. Council	9:15 to 9:30
Associated Women
Students	9:30 to 9:45
Vets Club	9:45 to 10:00
Legiate
Staff	10:00 to 10:30
Neconia Staff	10:30 to 11:00
Basketball Players & Coach	11:30 to 12:00

CBC students will have their individual pictures taken from 2:00 until 3:00 at their convenience. Students are reminded to be prompt for the morning group pictures so as to adhere to the schedule. All pictures will be taken in the gymnasium.

Col-Basin Five Seek First Conf Win Over Yakima

The blue and white clad Hawks will trip to the Armory tonight to meet with the Indians of Yakima JC tonight at Yakima. The Hawks have yet to beat the Indians and are hoping to win this last conference game of 1956.

It is expected that many of the students from Columbia Basin will attend the game in Yakima along with the pep band. This being the final game in league play, all should plan to attend.

The Hawks have lost their last two games on the road, losing to Centralia by a 97-49 drubbing and falling to Everett 82-56. Columbia Basin is now in eighth place in the state conference standings, but a win tonight could possibly boost them in the standings.

T. R. Mager Speaks To Psychology 102

Mr. T. R. Mager, Supervisor of the Tri-City Child Guidance Center, addressed the Psychology 102 class on Friday, February 17. He outlined the work of the Bureau, which is part of the state program and stressed the vocational opportunities for students interested in Psychiatric Social Work, Clinical Psychology, and Psychiatry.

Present Program Limited

Mr. Mager stated, "While the present program is limited to six supervisors responsible for this type of work throughout Washington State, the number of cases voluntarily requesting counseling far exceeds the present service. Appointments are scheduled months in advance."

Play 'Forward-Looking'

The second performance of the presentation "Outward Bound" on Friday evening proved even more successful than the opening performance Thursday, February 2. The director, Mr. Robert Ericson, his cast and stage assistants are to be complimented for giving drama at Columbia Basin College such a forward-looking start.

The narrative moved quickly with the most dramatic qualities achieved frequently enough to keep the audience tense with expectation. The smooth lighting effects added to the erie climate created by the dialogue, which, although ad-libbed in places, was well done considering the inexperience of the actors.

The cast seemed especially fitted to portray the characters chosen and without exception appeared to place every effort toward maximum production.

Terry Oppenberg acted like Tom Prior himself, trembling with apprehension as Scrubby (Larry Osterman) quietly reassured him they were all dead and actually sailing for Heaven. Mrs. Cliveden-Banks' (Marilyn Steffenson) distinctive style provided humor to which the audience responded heartily. At times Mrs. Midget's (Patti Hill) accent appeared as mysterious as the aloofness in Ann (Ruby Fair) and Phillip (George Bothum) whose final frantic emotions brought tears of sympathy and joy from the ladies in the audience. The officious, self-made Mr. Lingley (Bob Holt) contrasted well with the sincere, earnest Rev. William Duke (Don Dawson). While Charles Denny sounded elderly and jovial as the examiner, Mr. Thomson, it was hard to visualize him as the "massive clegyman" whom Rev Duke called "Old Grease Spot."

Leaving the theater after this performance Mr. Herman Jaeger, school superintendent, remarked: "I have always been interested in drama and had an opportunity to see several productions at the summer play-houses of the universities. This performance of "Outward Bound" was better than any I've seen."

Vets Sponsor School Dance

An informal get-together dance sponsored by the Columbia Basin College Vet's Club was held last Tuesday night in the school gymnasium from 8:30 till midnight. Admission was one dollar for couples and 75 cents for stags.

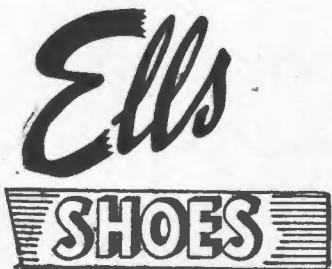

A large crowd turned out to dance to the music of "Ye Olde Record Player."

Robert Eke was in charge of the committee for entertainment and John Morbeck was in charge of the advertisements for the affair. Keith Sterling and Myron Krisher assisted on the committee for refreshments and orchestrations.

Crepes paper decorations camouflaged the record player and disguised the refreshment stand and the emergency exits.

The Flipside

By Mike Flynn and Les Leigh

I think that we shall never see

An age like this one, you and me.

For the record business, a booming year,

Because the Rock and Roll was here.

Bill Haley cracked the nation's charts,

Splitting "Top Tens" in many parts.

Then Georgia Gibbs and the Crewcuts too,

Finally the Planters sang "Only You."

The nation's lovers were hit by the bug

And instead of parking, they'd cut a rug.

The records poured out, flooded the nation.

The multitude grasped a new dance sensation.

To err is human but to bop is cool,

And in "Blackboard Jungle" they did it in school.

But for those who just waltz, like Mon and Dad,

Kay Starr's latest fits the fad.

And so to you cats in jackets of leather,

It's Brotherhood week; may we all rock together.

All kidding aside, gang, this is brotherhood week, and let's live together as we were meant to. Just because I like Bill Haley and you crave Mozart, does that mean we can't speak to each other? After all, no matter what the type, music brings happiness.

Last Pep Assembly Reaps Many Laughs

The last pep assembly of the year was held February 10, with a new type of basketball scrimmage that had not been seen at CBC before. Local Coeds dressed in Dad's shirts, blue Jeans, white knee sox and red hats portrayed the basketball players in a skit. Taking part in the game were Rumpy, Glidding, Bashful, Plucky, Slippery, Nervous, Long Shot, Jumping, Bounding, Old Man, Galloping, Coach, and the Referee.

At the closing of the skit a surprised Tom Burnside, Editor of CBC paper was taken to the showers.

The game resulted in a landslide win with two points scored by Jumping Jones.

"The skit showed the undying spirit of the members of our grand and glorious Hawks," commented Dick Nelson.

Table Tennis Tourney Hosts 29 Participants

Charlie Ramp became ping pong champion of Columbia Basin College in a single elimination affair by defeating Joe Turner, Tom Burnside, Lynn Gillespie and Mr. Jim Devine earlier this month.

Another tournament will be held in the near future with A and B class entries. The contest is to promote student campus activity, and the entry fee goes toward more and better ping pong equipment.

There were twenty-nine contestants in the first contest and more are expected for the future tournaments.

Dick Block, the organizer, will be in charge of the next tournament also.

Confidential by Bob

As I sit here during journalism class with the intention of writing this edition's column, I find myself bothered by the heated bellowing of our unshaven editor. Adding to this disturbance is the continual pleading of our worried advisor, asking me to try to get my copy in on time. Naturally, I am the emotional type who is easily disturbed, and to remedy this, I am having to take large doses of "Old Jack Daniels." This cures my emotional crisis but leaves me in such a state of gibbering joy that I forget all about writing. As you can see, this is a bad (hic) day.

Last week, to my horror, the annual staff passed out personality polls with the usual novel tripe, consisting of such witty little categories as: Mr. ar Miss Personality, Glamor, Humor, Bashful (of all the corn), I am a realist, not a dweller in fantasy, and I submit a much more realistic personality poll: Mr. and Miss Repulsive, Hideous, Sickening, Obnoxious, and Mr. Most-Likely-to-Flunk.

In order to keep my clean from bites, scratches, heel imprints and hand indentations, I will dispense with the Mrs. or Miss part of this poll.

For Mr. Repulsive, I nominate Dick Block who is going away. Next is Mr. Hideous. This is a toss-up between Chaney, Dick Nelson and Lorre. Third we have Mr. Sickening, who is Jim Donnelly. The only student in school is th only student in school, a passing grade in ping class, although there are on the borderline. Fourth Mr. Obnoxious, and Mr. McHaney wins this one breeze as he is always bothering me with comments like: "Where's the hot man?" and using my cup for an ashtray.

The last is Mr. Most Likely to Flunk, and what a race is, with many capable contestants. It has all boiled down to Mr. Gregson's bonehead Mr. Stakkestad's numbskull with Mr. Gregson's test-wielding fiends gaining the nod.

Weddings Top Social Calendar

Leap year has brought three weddings to Columbia Basin College before two months have lapsed. Two men joined the ranks of the married earlier this quarter and one co-ed will do so next week.

Alberta Armfield, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Armfield of Pasco became the bride of Merle Jones January 14, 1956 in Coeur d'Alene Idaho at a quiet ceremony with Mr. Jones' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Meske, of Spokane, as witnesses.

Merle is a student at C.B.C. majoring in Business Administration and is a 1955 graduate of Pasco High School.

Alberta is attending Pasco High, completing her last year of school.

The young couple are now residing in Eltopia.

Another wedding of interest was the wedding of Shirley Hoenslaar daughter of Mrs. William Vogt of Pasco, to Marvin vin Vogt February 4, 1956 in Tumwater, Washington. The bride's attendants were Miss Mary Braddock of Olympia and Miss Shirley of Pasco as maid of honor. William Cole of Arlington, Washington as best man.

Marvin is a student of C.B.C. majoring in Machine Shop. Shirley has been employed with the Pacific Telephone Company in Pasco for the three years and is now a Supervisor.

The Vogts are making a new home at 1832 W. Main in Pasco.

Miss Clara Dillon, daughter of Mrs. Aretha Dillon of Pasco will become the bride of J. A. Boles of Tacoma, Sunday, February 26, 1956, at 2:00 p.m. at Morning Star Church. The Reverend Howard officiating at the double ring service.

Clara is a freshman plans to complete this year at C.B.C. She is a 1955 graduate of Pasco High School.

Mr. Boles is from Tacoma and is a minister of the Baptist Church.

Another social item of interest is the celebration after recent promotion of "Outward Bound."

The cast of the play guests met at the home of advisor Mr. Robert Ericson immediately following the performance Friday evening February 3.

Marilyn Steffenson finished the records for dance Mr. and Mrs. Ericson served refreshments.

Hawks Drop To Eighth Place, Lose Two

SPORTS QUINTS

By T. B.

Man, are these road trips tough! The Hawks have only won one game while on the road this year. That will give you some kind of an idea of what student support means to those guys. The support given the team at home games was swell; in fact, I went to most of the out-of-town games and didn't attend one which had the students turn out as well as you have. Congratulations!

However, the only game attended by CBC students was at Wenatchee. The band and some ten students attended that game, and we won it. The importance of team support cannot be stressed too much, they need that cheer and clapping when they make that basket.

What I'm leading up to is this. We have a game at Yakima tonight, the last in the conference season, so let's turn out for the game! Let's have a big cheering section up at Yakima and win our last game!

Jim Weeks of Morrisville, N.Y. J.C. is leading the nation's college players in scoring with an average of 37.8 points a game. Behind him comes Bill Thomas, Luther J.C. Wahoo, Nebraska with a 35.7 point average. Third is Dick Juth of Weleth J.C. in Minnesota with 30 points per game.

The top team offense in the country for junior colleges is Chipola J.C. in Florida, scoring an average of 99.2 points a game. Second is Vincennes J.C. of Indiana scoring 95.2 per game. In third position is Hancock J.C. of California with a 92.4 average.

There have been two outstanding losses in the junior college conference this year. CBC has both of them, losing 97-48 to Grays Harbor and 97-49 to Centralia.

Glad to hear that Jerry Hathaway of Olympic is getting along fine now. Jerry was injured in the last game with CBC.

CBC Quintet Win Two; Lose 96-64 To Chokers

The Columbia Basin College Hawks had an exciting 78-71 win over the Lower Columbia Red Devils February 4 in the Pasco Gym. A free throw by Dick Block and a lay-in by Denny Olson broke up a 67-67 tie and the Hawks kept the winning margin during the final minutes of the game.

Bob Estes of Longview was the high scorer for the game with 22 points. Dick Block, with 18 points, was the Hawks high scorer followed by Lynn Gillespie and Dave Forrest each with 14.

Saturday, February 6, in another home game the Hawks were trounced 96-64 by the league leading, fast-breaking Gray's Harbor Chokers. The Chokers jumped into a 22-7 lead and held a 46-30 margin at the half. The closest the Hawks could come to the lead was within 9 points 35-26 just before the half. The only tie score of the game was at the beginning when Chuck Platsman score with a field goal to bring the score 2-2.

Wenatchee Valley was held winless again February 10, as the Columbia Basin Hawks came from behind in another home game to defeat the Knights 56-53. With 4 minutes and 30 seconds remaining Dave Forrest scored with three field goals to bring the Hawks into the lead 54-53. Denny Olson lead the scorers for CBC with 15 points while the games top scorer was George Remsberg of Wenatchee with 21 tallies.

Trojans, Blazers Trounce Hawks By Big Margins

The CBC Hawks dropped two ball games by wide margins this week to find themselves in eighth place. The blue blue and white lost to Everett 82-56 last Monday night and were soundly trounced 97-48 by Centralia last Saturday.

The Hawks had plenty of scoring opportunities in both games, but weren't able to drop it through the net. Earlier in the season the Hawks had beaten both teams, but the tables were certainly reversed at these games. In the Centralia game CBC hit only 18 out of 63, while the Blazers hit 36 out of 56. In the Everett game CBC totaled about 15 per cent while the Trojans tallied 56 per cent.

Dick Block, one of the top rebounders in the state, fouled out early in the second half in both games. Dick scored 29 against Centralia here, but only scored one point last Saturday. Denny Olson was high point man against Everett with 16 points.
